State Police Bulletin Lists Accident Causes

WITH OUR STATE trying hard to cut down on motor vehicle accidents and fatalities, it might be well to go into the subject of accidents, causes of accidents, and what state police are doing.

Timmo got hold of the District 13 State Police bulletin for March, 1956, and I found a lot of interesting and pertinent bits of information to pass on to the public.

Figures to be given deal with District 13, which is composed of Saline, Alexander, Franklin, Galatin, Hamilton, Hardin, Jackson, Jefferson, Johnson, Massac, Perry, Pope, Pulaski, Randolph, Union, Washington and Williamson counties. And the figures are for one month only—the month of March.

State police now are required to give traffic tickets in accidents if one or both principals have violated traffic regulations. Here are the principal causes of accidents in the district during March and the number of arrests made in these causes:

Not having the right-of-way caused 21 accidents and 21 arrests were made for this violation.

Biggest cause of accidents was driving off the roadway and no arrests were made for this cause because there was no violation of the law involved.

Here are some of the other causes, followed by the number of accidents, and the number of arrests made:

Speeding—9—126; reckless driving—17—31; improper passing—12—140; improper turning—4—14; improper stopping or parking—2—3; following too closely—14—18; failure to signal—7—3; disregarding stop sign—0—109; had been drinking—11—33; on wrong side of road—17—29; unsafe equipment—4—7; other causes—3—2.

That makes a total of 146 reportable accidents and 536 arrests for these violations which either did or could have caused the accidents, by the state policemen in the 17-county district during the one month.

In addition, there were arrests over other reasons including no driver's and auto licenses, no safety sticker, no muffler, lack of proper equipment, which brought the total to 780.

The hourly and daily accident summary for the month also was given.

It showed that 25 of the accidents occurred on Sundays, seven

Three Youths Admit Stealing Four Parking Meters Here

Two from Galatia, One
From Thompsonville
Held in County Jail

Three youths are in the Saline county jail today after admitting stealing and breaking open four Harrisburg parking meters — an act which netted them exactly a dollar and ten cents — and admitting to officers that they broke into one business at West End and two at Thompsonville.

Chief of Police Ross Lane said that Clifford Wece, 18, Thompsonville, Harry Riddle, 20, Galatia, and a Galatia grade school boy had admitted the act here two weeks ago. They said that the two Galatia youths pulled up the meters on Church street and put them into Wece's car. They hauled them outside the city and broke them open, then came back and spent the money for pastries.

The arrests came after an investigation by Lane and Police-man Pat Atkinson. Wece was picked up in Williamson county, the other two at Galatia.

Sheriff William T. Barrett and his force joined the case when the

OIL REPORT:

Phillips Brings In 4 Producers In Galatia Area

Taken from the Robertson
Tri-State Oil Report

Phillips Petroleum Co. brought in four producers in Section 16 of Galatia township during the period ending May 2.

The list of completions showed two shut down temporarily, all three in Galatia township.

The Phillips Baker "H" No. 3, NWE NE SE, 16-8-5e, made a well in the Aux Vases with initial production 762 barrels of oil and 60 barrels of water on flow after acidation and fracture.

Their Baker "H" No. 2, SW SE NE, 16-8-5e, made a well in the Aux Vases with initial production 704 barrels of oil per day on flow.

Their Noble "A" No. 2, 380 feet north and 330 feet east of SW NE NE, 16-8-5e, and their Noble "A" No. 3, NEE NE NE, 16-8-5e, made wells in the Aux Vases but their production was not available as both were flowing into a common tank battery.

Lauderdale Oil Co. got a 50 barrel per day producer on pump from the Aux Vases at their Bona Communized No. 1, NWE SE SE, 15-8-5e, and Ohio's A. Webber Estate No. 2, NEE SE SE, 10-8-5e, made a well in the Aux Vases with initial production 30 barrels of oil and a trace of water per day on pump.

Shut down temporarily was Lauderdale's Phelps-Bona Communized No. 1-A, NWE NW SE, 14-8-5e. There was no activity in Harrisburg township during the period. Big activity still was Galatia township, where there were 26 tests either in operation or located. Eldorado had five operations. Raleigh two, Tate four and Cottage one.

11 Elderly Men Live at Home On County Farm

Eleven elderly men are living comfortable and happy lives at the Knickerbocker Old Folks' Home, located on the Saline County Farm property just west of Dorrisville.

June 1 will mark the completion of one year's operation of the home by Mr. and Mrs. Bert Knickerbocker. At present there are eleven men making their home there, just one short of capacity.

There were seven when the home opened a year ago.

The Knickerbockers rent the property from the county, through the Board of Supervisors.

There are 18 rooms in the two story brick house and a full basement. Bedrooms and other living accommodations are on the first two floors. Two large bedrooms accommodate three men each and others have single rooms. The Knickerbockers have quarters on the first floor, including a large living room, which is available to the men.

Various local churches visit the home and hold religious services and the large living room is used for worship services and other meetings.

A large dining room makes it possible for all to eat at the same time. The meal schedule: Breakfast 6:30 a. m., dinner 11:30 a. m., supper 4:30 p. m. A typical noon meal includes roast beef, gravy, boiled cabbage, baked potatoes, beets, pie, coffee and milk. Sunday dinner always features chicken.

If the men desire, they may do odd jobs around the house and grounds, which includes more than 20 acres. However, the work is strictly on a volunteer basis.

One of the men, Tom Bundren, has a nice garden. Another likes to help in the kitchen and one other states he enjoys giving a hand in the dining room. But for the most part these elderly men are just taking it easy.

One remarked, "I like it here just fine. They couldn't run me off." That apparently just about expressed the feelings of all.

Lee A. Berry is worshipful master of Equality Lodge.

Equality Lodge No. 2, A. F. & A. M., honored two of its oldest members last night when John B. Bunker and T. E. McIntire received 50-year pins.

Mr. Bunker and Mr. McIntire became members of the Masonic lodge at Equality 50 years ago on the same evening. The Equality lodge is the oldest Masonic lodge in the State of Illinois. The presentation of the 50-year pins was made by E. Bishop Hill, a 33rd degree Mason of Harrisburg.

Many of the "adoption" animals at the shelter, she pointed out, are ones which have been picked up by the society or brought to the shelter after being injured or abandoned. Others have been relinquished by persons who no longer could care for them.

Events for the week get under way at 5:30 p. m. today when Bill Plater, on his "It's Fun to Draw" program on WSL-TV, will show animal posters made by art students of Miss Kathryn Rice at Harrisburg Township high school.

A number of churches will recognize the week tomorrow, which is Be Kind to Animals Sunday.

At 3:30 p. m. Wednesday the Rev. Louie Durfee will speak on kindness to animals on his "Little Old-Fashioned Church of the Air" over WEBQ.

Thursday evening Lucky Leroy will dedicate a song to the week on his WSL-TV program.

During the week a movie in color, "Member of the Family," will be shown at the following schools: Monday, Muddy; Tuesday morning, Dorris Heights; Tuesday afternoon, McKinley; Wednesday morning, Baylis; Wednesday afternoon, Logan; Thursday morning, Dorrisville; Thursday afternoon, Horace Mann; Friday morning, Liberty; Friday afternoon, Junior high. Each child also will receive a booklet on dog care.

National posters, the picture by Walt Disney, have been displayed in prominent places throughout the county.

Gray Asks Gov't Pay Costs Saline River Project

WASHINGTON, May 5 — Cong. Kenneth J. Gray of West Frankfort, (Illinois 25th district) yesterday appeared before the House subcommittee on Public Works and asked that the entire cost of the Saline River flood control project in southern Illinois be borne by the federal government.

The Bureau of Budget had recommended that local citizens in the Saline river basin where the proposed project would take place pay $1,346,000 of the total cost of $6,618,000.

Gray asked that local contributions be waived and the project be authorized immediately because of economic conditions and the dangerous effect of floods.

He said he expected some action within 30 days.

The project calls for widening and deepening parts of the Saline river and its tributaries.

The project has been approved but the government has required that a taxing body be set up to take care of the local contributions to the project.

Three times a vote has been taken in the area on establishing this taxing body and three times the proposal has failed.

Horace Mann PTA to Observe 20 Years Of Service at Meeting Monday Evening

Monday evening, May 7, the Horace Mann PTA unit will observe the completion of 20 years of service to the school and community. The unit was organized Sept. 23, 1935 and received its charter the following month.

The Horace Mann PTA was organized with the help of the Logan school unit with Mrs. Joseph M. Hart active in the organization. Mrs. Mary Entsminger from Carbondale installed the first slate of officers—Mrs. Edwin Evans, president; Mrs. Carl Woolcott, vice-president; Miss Elizabeth Furr, secretary; Perry Moore, treasurer.

During the past 20 years Mrs. Hart, Mrs. M. M. Latimer, Mrs. Victor Humm, Mrs. Shannon Taylor and Mrs. Wendell Bramlet have served as district directors for PTA from this area. Mrs. Bramlet is now serving her second term in that capacity.

In honor of the 20th anniversary of the PTA, Miss Alice Jarrell, third grade teacher at Horace Mann, has compiled a history of the unit and this historical record will be presented to the unit Monday evening. It was submitted to the 1956 Illinois Congress of PTA Convention held at Peoria in April and received five awards.

The charter and all but two of the Year Books outlining the programs through the years are included. A list of contributions supplied the school through the yearly money making events represents in every case necessities for a modern school plant with emphasis on the best interest of the children. The items purchased were over and above what the Board of Education could furnish with tax money.

Typical items are raincoats, hats and boots for patrol boys, playground equipment, movie projector, radio-record players, electric clock and bell system, filing cabinets, etc.

The state office has given many awards to Horace Mann unit of PTA on material forwarded according to requirements. This year has been an outstanding one in many areas. Membership reached an all time high, with 367 paid up members. Mrs. John Cape was membership chairman. PTA magazine sales under the direction of Mrs. John Utter reached the peak this year. The year book received Superior rating.

Past Presidents of the unit will be honored guests at the Monday evening meeting. The past presidents are: Mrs. Edwin Evans, Mrs. H. N. Jarvis, Mrs. Bernice Towle Herrmann, Judge L. M. Hancock, Dr. L. I. Webb, Mrs. Louise Gaskins, Donald Winters, Mrs. Curtis Small, Mrs. M. P. McDonald, Mrs. M. M. Latimer, Mrs. Charles Wright, Mrs. George Barnes, Mrs. Charles Skaggs, Mrs. J. C. Wilson, Mrs. Roy Olson, Mrs. Nobel Shaw, Richard Cochran, Mrs. Ed Brantley (two terms), Mrs. James Gwaltney and Mrs. Paul Tanner is the present president.

Three of the past presidents—Mrs. Herrmann, Mrs. Gaskins and Mr. Winters—are deceased.

Cyrus Steinsultz, principal of Horace Mann school, and members of the teaching staff are grateful for the fine cooperation the school has received through the years from patrons of the school and the PTA.

An invitation to everyone interested in the schools, and especially Horace Mann, are invited to attend the 20th anniversary program Monday evening.

Death in Gas Chamber Is Mandatory

Jury Deliberates
Hour, 12 Minutes
To Reach Verdict

DENVER — John Gilbert Graham was condemned to death Friday night by a jury which found him guilty of time-bombing a commercial airliner so he could collect his mother's insurance.

Forty-four persons, including his mother, Mrs. Daisie E. King, 54, were killed in the crash. It occurred last Nov. 1, a few minutes after the United Air Lines DC6B took off from Denver and less than an hour after Graham took out $37,500 insurance on his mother's life at an airport vending machine.

The 24-year-old Graham, pictured by the prosecution during his trial as a "greedy, grasping" killer, made no outward show of emotion as the jury returned its verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree.

The jury's failure to make any recommendation made death in the gas chamber mandatory. Plans An Appeal

Chief defense counsel Charles Vigil announced minutes after the verdict he would appeal the case to the State Supreme Court. Dist. Judge Joseph M. McDonald gave him 10 days to do so.

The jury of seven men and five women deliberated Graham's fate for only 1 hour and 12 minutes. It received the case at 9:45 p. m. MST, signaled the bailiff at 10:37 p. m. that it had reached a decision and handed its verdict to McDonald shortly after 11 p. m.

Graham didn't blink an eye while the verdict was being read. A few minutes later he was escorted from the courtroom by four guards. In the hallway just outside the courtroom, he bowed his head while manacles were fastened to his wrists. Then he blinked his eye.

On his way to the hall, the defendant passed by his weeping young wife, Pretty Gloria Graham, 22, mother of the convicted murderer's two children, had burst into tears with the reading of the verdict and was being comforted by a neighbor, Mrs. Helene West, a defense witness.

In closing arguments, veteran Dist. Atty. Bert Keating pictured Graham as a "greedy, grasping" killer who would, and did, place a homemade time bomb aboard a United Air Lines DC6B to kill his mother, Mrs. Daisie E. King, 54, for her trip insurance. The airliner blew to pieces in flight a few minutes out of Denver and crashed in a sugar beet field near Longmont, Colo., the night of Nov. 1. Had the plane not been late in taking off, it would have crashed over the Rocky Mountains, and the sabotage might have gone undetected, as the prosecution claimed was Graham's plan.

The Karns family finally gave up the separation idea, and the Tinker family, a cat and three chicks, snuggled happily together.

Power Packed Pellets

How big is a pellet of feed? In terms of sheep and cattle gains, it is very big. Seventy-four to 90 pounds of pellets are as "big" in the gains they produce as 100 pounds of meal. We have learned this much in trials with fattening rations over the past three years at the Dixon Springs Experiment Station.

In terms of bulk, pellets are small. Those fed on the Station have been about as big around as a lead pencil. They do not crack, pop or snap. They have not been shot from guns. They are made by subjecting finely ground feed to steam and extreme pressure. The feed comes out through holes in the pelleting machine as a dense, hard core. So far as we know, the feed does not change except in physical form. Yet these pellets pack a wallop.

By Albert Meyer

Grass silage-making time soon will be at hand. Farmers with beef and dairy cattle herds find that such silage is a profitable form for using surplus spring pasture and meadow crops. If a farmer has enough pasture for the summer months of July and August, he usually has excess forage in May and June.

One of the best ways to preserve the nutritive value of these grass and legume crops is in the form of silage. The feeding value is better than that of cured hay, and there is not quite the risk of damage from rain during harvest. It has been found in dairying that grass silage, on the average, will produce about 25 per cent more milk per acre than will cured hay.

Field chopping grass for silage is a convenient operation for the farmer if he owns or can rent a field chopper. The silage may be stored either in horizontal or upright silos. Trench or bunker type silos have become rather popular for storing grass silage in southern Illinois. These horizontal types are convenient to fill and for self-feeding. If an upright silo is used, the farmer must be certain it is built strong enough to hold grass silage.

Cutting pasture and meadow crops at the proper time for silage is important in obtaining the maximum feed value from the plants. At the same time, it is important to cut the crops at the stage when they will give the highest yield of roughage without hurting the stand by cutting.

Some general suggestions are: Cut the first crop of alfalfa as near the time it is one-tenth in bloom as possible, or when the new crown shoots appear.

Red clover may be cut at one-half to three-fourths bloom and sweet clover just as the plants are starting to bloom.

Grasses, brome and timothy need to head before cutting, but should not be blooming. Reed canary grass must be cut quite early—before heading.

Questions often arise on whether or not to use preservatives for grass silage. Ordinarily, preservatives are desirable for high-moisture, straight legumes or legume-grass mixtures. When the silage is predominantly grass, a preservative may not be necessary if the plants are cut at the proper stage. If moisture is too high the forage may be cut and allowed to wilt to about 70 per cent moisture before chopping and storing. A preservative may improve the silage but does not always guarantee good silage. If high grade forages are used, the quality of the silage in feed value will be high. Sugars or other fermentable carbohydrates such as molasses or ground grain, aiding fermentation, may be used as preservatives. Chemicals such as sulfur dioxide which inhibit fermentation also are preservatives.

Packing the chopped material tightly in the silo to exclude air is one of the secrets of good silage. Farmers often drive a farm tractor back and forth on the fresh silage when they are filling a horizontal silo.

Pellets Save Feed

In fattening rations for lambs, pellets have given feed savings varying from 9 to 26 per cent and have increased rates of gain by 8 to 55 per cent. Fattening cattle gains were increased by 7 per cent with a 14 per cent saving in feed. Yearling steers self-fed on a complete pelleted ration gained an average of 24 pounds a day for 130 days.

In all trials, four different fattening rations for lambs and one for cattle, pellets were superior to the same feed in the form of meal. We knew pellets were big, but we didn't know how big until this past winter when George Cmarik, cattle researcher, changed the style and fed only pelleted hay. Previously the cattle had been fed complete fattening rations including both concentrates and roughage.

Fifteen head of steer calves on pelleted hay alone made an average daily gain of 1.8 pounds. Only 900 pounds of pelleted hay were needed for each 100 pounds of gain. Steers fed on the same hay, both long and chopped, gained only 1.2 pound a head daily and ate nearly twice as much as the pelleted lot to make 100 pounds of gain. A pellet of hay proved to be extra-big!

Easier Eating

The most often-asked question is: "Why?" if the feed is changed only in form. Digestibility does not seem to be a factor. Perhaps it is partly due to greater consumption. At any rate the greatest benefits for pelleting have been for lower quality rations. Cattle eat pellets with more relish than the feed in meal form.

A certain amount of feed is needed just to maintain life. Feed eaten above the point can be used for growth and fattening. Pellets eliminate dust and waste. They are easy and fast to eat and swallow. They need less time to fill the animals and perhaps a sheep or a steer is full before he knows it and just keeps on eating. But, regardless of the reason, pellets do the job.

Dairy Herd Improvement Association records have proved to many dairy farmers that they could not rely on judgment alone to pick out the best cows in their herds.

Control Plants That Cause Milk Off-Flavors

URBANA — Cows eat some plants that cause off-flavors in milk and make it unacceptable for market.

Among the worst offenders in spring or early summer are wild onions, mustard and dandelions.

The flavors these plants give to milk are different from the flavor when cows are first turned on rye or lush grass-legume pastures, Ormiston says. The compounds in grasses and legumes that cause off-flavors are highly volatile and soon disappear.

You can control these flavors simply turning the cows onto grass-legume pastures after the first milking and taking them off about three or four hours before the next milking.

But weed flavors are harder to control, and about the best way is to get rid of the weeds by spraying, according to the specialist.

Spray wild onions in early spring and again in early fall with 1 1/2 pounds of the ester form of 2,4-D an acre. This spray will kill the legumes but will not harm grasses. You can check wild onions in arable fields by putting the infested fields into cultivated row crops for two or three years.

A light treatment of 2,4-D at the rate of one-fourth pound an acre in the amine form will kill mustard and will not harm legumes.

Dandelions are seldom a problem except in old, established sod. You can control them by spraying with 2,4-D at the rate of one-fourth pound an acre in the ester form or one-half pound an acre in the amine form.

Clean Farm Is Safe Farm

For your safety's sake, extend spring housecleaning to your whole farm, says O. L. Hogsett, University of Illinois extension safety specialist.

Scattered tools, bags of feed and seed, buckets, broken lumber and just common trash are responsible for hospitalizing one person in every five who meet with farm accidents. Not only that—next to poor judgment, disorder is the largest single cause of injuries.

Inside and out, get rid of trash, paper, scattered boxes and boards, rags and rubbish. They are serious fire hazards and ideal breeding places for rats and mice.

Tear down and dispose of broken, wobbly steps that could cripple someone for life.

Remove old, shaky buildings on your farmstead.

Throw out unmarked bottles of poison, and don't take chances on the ones that are marked. Be absolutely sure they are out of reach of your children and animals. This is just as important at the barn or shed as it is in the house.

Women Pastors Win Equal Rights in Methodist Church

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Women pastors won equal clergy rights with men at the general conference of the Methodist Church Friday by a vote of 389-279 after a heated three-hour debate.

The women clergymen were accorded full voting rights in the church and the right of appointment following ordination by delegates to the quadrennial conference.

Mrs. Henry D. Ebner, Atlantic City, N. J., voiced opposition to granting full rights.

"As a woman and local preacher, I have never felt discriminated against," she said. "I don't feel I have to fight for equal rights in competition with men as women already have more rights than men."

Earlier, the Methodist lawmakers disposed of another controversy by voting to move toward voluntary racial desegregation.

In other action before the end of the week, the conference raised the salary of bishops to $12,500 a year. Delegates hoped to adjourn Monday.

He also was accompanied by his

Labor Writer Permanently Blinded by Acid

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Daily Mirror ran a banner headline today about its labor columnist but he never will be able to read it. The headline said: "Victor Riesel Totally Blind."

Doctors said Friday night that the labor writer, attacked a month ago by a thug who hurled burning acid in his face, has irrevocably lost the sight of both eyes. They said he took the bitter news stoically.

Top specialists have been fighting for the past month to save Riesel's eyes and had hopes he would see again, if only partially.

The announcement ended the hope.
Riesel, 41 and father of two children, had made a radio broadcast shortly before the early morning attack in which he lambasted labor racketeers, frequent targets of his syndicated column.

He had gone to Lindy's on Broadway for a snack after the broadcast and had just left the restaurant with his assistant, Miss Betty Nevins, when the thug struck. The attacker, described as a "nice-looking young man," walked up to Riesel and tossed the contents of a small bottle in the columnist's face.

Police immediately launched a widespread search for the attacker and rewards totaling $40,000 have been offered for his apprehension but he still is at large.

Several labor unions joined in the reward offer.

Eisenhower Relaxes At Gettysburg Farm

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower today relaxed with two of his grandchildren at his rolling farm.

The President motored here Friday afternoon thru bright spring sunshine with six-year-old Barbara Eisenhower and her eight year old brother, David.

He also was accompanied by his physician, Maj. Gen. Howard McC.
Snyder.

Mrs. Eisenhower arrived at the farm earlier in the day.

THE CHURCH POINTS THE WAY

Thousands of columns have been published in American newspapers about juvenile delinquency. Investigations have been held in scores of cities, and many witnesses have been called in an effort to find the cause and the cure.

In all this sudden excitement little has been said about the lack of religion in the homes and hearts of these thousands of unfortunate youths. Far too much emphasis has been placed on inadequate play facilities, too little discipline, too few policemen, etc.

Juvenile delinquency is primarily a moral and religious problem. Neither jail nor playground, as necessary as they are, will do much to foster love, goodwill, self-respect and charity in the heart of a person. The development of love and charity in the life of a youth needs constant day by day cultivation. But how can a parent properly train a child if that parent has had no religious or spiritual training or background and lives a selfish and faithless life? How can a parent does not even the fundamental spiritual values if that parent does not even attempt to live an exemplary life and does not admit his or her dependence upon God, our creator?

Down through the ages the Church has been the bulwark against crime, sin and evil. Those who would solve the problem of delinquency in young or old should seek the way of the Church, for those who need spiritual healing should seek spiritual treatment. The Church stands ready to help parent and youth alike.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Saul's Conversion'

Acts 9:1-19
GOLDEN TEXT: "Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain." (John 15:16)

INTRODUCTION: The conversion of Saul is one of the greatest events in all the Bible. In fact, it is one of the greatest events in all of history.

The conversion of any individual, young or old, great or small, is a wonderful event. Jesus said that one soul is worth more than all the whole world. No wonder, then, that even the salvation of one little child can be said to be a wonderful event.

Many evil and wicked men and women have been converted. These always attract more attention than the conversion of an innocent child. However, one is no more important than the other in the sight of God.

One thing is certain: Saul actually saw Jesus that day on the Damascus Road. When he did, Saul the persecutor became Paul the Missionary.

I SAUL THE PERSECUTOR (VV. 1-2)

My! but this young Jew was a determined individual. He was one of the best educated men of his day. With his brilliant mind, political influence and strong young body, Saul set out to stamp out Christianity.

That very first verse tells us that he was "breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord." Already the persecutors in Jerusalem had scattered the Christians and caused them to leave that city. Now, Saul and his men are headed down toward Damascus to get rid of that group of Christians down there.

II SAUL IS CONVICTED (VV. 3-6)

Saul's conversion experience was different than that of any other person. Some folks are not saved today, because they are waiting for a great light to strike them. It will never happen.

A great, bright light did shine down from heaven upon Saul. The men around him fell upon the ground. Jesus spoke, "Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?" These words took all the desire out of Saul to persecute the followers of Christ. Let it be understood that no person can ever in any way speak harmfully of, or in any way harm one of God's followers, and get by with it! There is such a close relationship between Christ and His followers that their persecutors will be punished.

Saul entered into Damascus. He was blinded three days by his experience. He could not eat nor sleep. We have seen men suffer some emotional disturbance at the time of their conversion. Sometimes they become angry, and sometimes they make everyone around them miserable until they finally submit to God's will.

III SAUL BECOMES PAUL (VV. 10-19)

God called upon Ananias to perform a task. Ananias said: "I am here, Lord." Even though he feared this man Saul, he loved God more. He accepted the task of going to Saul to speak with him. Oh! that we had many such today, who would willingly go and speak to others about their soul's condition.

When Saul was converted to Christianity he became Paul, the missionary for Christ.

CONCLUSION: Paul was God's top man down through all the ages. All the zeal that he had been using against the followers of Christ, he now began exerting for Christ. He came to the place where he could actually count it a privilege to suffer for Christ's sake. He said later: "For me to live is Christ, but for me to die is gain." What would you be willing to suffer for Christ?

Nelsen Resigns As REA Director

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ancher Nelsen has resigned as rural electrification administrator in order to run for the governorship of Minnesota on the Republican ticket. Nelsen was expected to make a public announcement on his political intentions today at a meeting in Mankato, Minn., of 3rd Congressional District Republicans. President Eisenhower was expected to endorse Nelsen's candidacy when he accepts the resignation—probably Monday. Nelsen, 51, owns a 280-acre corn-hog-dairy farm near Hutchinson, Minn. He was lieutenant governor of Minnesota in 1953 before being named to the REA post. Agriculture Department officials said "five or six" men were under consideration for the REA post. Informed sources said one is Dwight W. Meyer of Odebolt, Iowa, chairman of the Iowa Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization committee.

Needles to Break from Post as Favorite for Richest Derby

17 Colts Slated To Start in 82nd Running of Classic
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Needles, son and grandson of a champion, was expected to break from the post as the favorite of a crowd of 100,000 at Churchill Downs today in the richest Kentucky Derby of them all. Seventeen pampered three-year-old colts were slated to start in the 82nd running of America's most famous horse race, and that huge a field would make the total purse a record $167,550. One entrant, the lightly-regarded Come On Red, may be scratched unless the racing strip is muddy. There seemed but little chance of mud, however, for the weather man was predicting "nice spring weather, with no rain" here at racing's "old Kentucky Home." Experts Favor Needles Post time for the famous "Run for the Roses" was listed for 5:30 p. m. EDT. If all 17 sleek colts start in the mile-and-a-quarter classic, the winner's purse will be a whopping $123,450, and the majority of "experts" at this quaint old racing plant think Needles will earn this pot for the D. and H. Stable, owned by Bonnie Heath and Jack Dudley. The handsome Florida-bred colt, winner of the Florida Derby, has loads of tradition on his side—his granddaddy, Pensive, came home in front in 1944 and his daddy, Ponder, conquered in 1949. Like Ponder, Needles is a come-from-behind racer who is expected to benefit little from the usual "good break" of drawing the No. 1 post position. Some folks think jockey Dave Erb, riding in his third derby, may have lots of trouble threading Needles through such a huge field after his usual slow start. But a United Press poll of 65 sports writers covering the race found 37 picking the Florida champion. Other Entries Ready Ready to prove that this was a mistake were the Calumet Farm entry of Fabius and Pinter Lea; C. V. Whitney's entry of Career Boy and Head Man; Count Chic, Countermind, High King, Ben A. Jones, Terrang, Besomer, Black Emperor, No Regrets and the "field" horses — Come On Red, Jean Baptiste, Invalidate, and King O'Swords. Racing horses in the Kentucky Derby is old hat to Calumet Farm whose entry was listed as second choice. Eleven Calumetets sported the Devils-Red and Blue silks in 10 precious derbies with five of them bounding home winners — Whirlaway, Pensive, Citation, Ponder and Hill Gail. Jockey Bill Hartack, in his first Derby, rode Fabius today while Bobby Baird, in the Derby scramble for the fourth time, handled Pinter Lea. Owner Whitney was back for an eighth try for the rich winner's

East-West Gap Cut: Stassen

LONDON (AP)—Harold E. Stassen said today the just-ended five-power disarmament conference cut the gap separating East and West almost by half but said the remaining negotiations will be the toughest. "The next year holds the best prospect of closing the remaining gap," he said. Stassen, U. S. delegate to the United Nations disarmament sub-commission conference which broke up Friday, spoke to newsmen at the American embassy before flying home to Washington tonight. He said the Soviets apparently entered the conference with a "miscalculation" of the Western point of view. They appeared willing to make conventional arms cuts but rigidly refused to negotiate when they found the West insisted simultaneous nuclear controls would have to go hand in hand, he said. Stassen said pressure is building up on both East and West to solve some or all of the disarmament problems within the next year. London observers believed the collapse of the conference without agreement may mean the Soviet Union is prepared to pitch headlong into an atomic weapons race. They said there probably would be two signals from Moscow giving substance to this: 1. The Communist world will still its loud propaganda to ban hydrogen and atomic weapons. 2. The Soviets will announce a sharp reduction in their standing army.

Shelton Quits As Coach at Carrier Mills

Claude Shelton has announced his resignation as head coach at Carrier Mills Community high school, effective at the close of the present term of school. Coach Shelton resigned at CMCHS to accept the position of head coach at Metropolis high school. Thus he is returning home as he graduated from Metropolis High school in 1933. At Metropolis Shelton will be head basketball and baseball coach and assist in football. Shelton is completing three successful years as Carrier Mills coach. His first year the Wildcats had a 21-4 record, dropping out of competition in the semi-final game of the regional tourney at Benton. The second season was the only one the team failed to win more than it lost—the record was 9-16. This past season Carrier Mills had a record of 17 wins against 9 losses. The Saline County tournament was started during Shelton's first year at CM and he guided teams to championships in two of the three county tournaments, taking the first and third. The second year of the meet Carrier Mills took the third place trophy. Shelton came to Carrier Mills from Princeville, near Peoria. He has a Bachelor's degree from Carthage and Masters from the University of Colorado. The move will bring Shelton into the newly formed athletic conference—the Southern Illini loop — composed of Eldorado, Metropolis, Johnston City and McLeansboro. The coming season will be the first conference schedule played. The Sheltons have three children. They will move to Metropolis during the summer months. Carrier Mills now joins the long list of schools with the head coaching post vacant, as resignations started early this spring and continue.

B52 to Make America's First H-Bomb Airdrop

Shot Monday Will Be Biggest of Current Series
ABOARD THE USS MT. McKinley at ENIWETOK (AP) — Task force officials announced today that an eight-jet B52 intercontinental bomber will make America's first H-bomb airdrop next week. The drop is scheduled for about 45 minutes before sunrise May 8 (2:25 p. m. EDT May 7), weather conditions permitting. The shot, named "Cherokee," will be one of the biggest of the current series, which was kicked off today with the explosion of an atomic warhead equal in power to 5,000 or 10,000 tons of TNT. More than 10 shots in all are planned for the test program called "Operation Redwing." Three B52s already are at Eniwetok Island. The one carrying the bomb will take off about 3 a. m. on the H-bomb drop day. The bomb will have been loaded the evening before. The huge bomber will drop the bomb in such a way as to achieve an airburst several thousand feet over the center of Namu Island, Bikini atoll. It will loose a blast equal to several million tons of TNT. A group of 15 newsmen and 17 Civil Defense officials will witness the big explosion. It will be the first time outsiders ever saw a U. S. H-bomb explode. In the observatory group is Gov. Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin. High speed cameras and much other measurement and recording equipment has been installed to gauge the power, yield and fallout effects of the air burst. Prior to the shot day, an intensive search will be made to be sure nobody is in the 400,000 square mile hazard area marked off in the Pacific for this test series. The plane's normal crew is five men, but for the H-bomb airdrop it will carry six. The sixth man is believed to be an Atomic Energy Commission expert from Los Alamos, N. M., where the weapon was devised. The names of the crew will be announced later.

Braves Beat Giants with Clutch Hit by Mathews; Cardinals Trip Dodgers, 10-3

By United Press
Manager Charlie Grimm insists Eddie Mathews is the man who can lead Milwaukee into the World Series this year and, be that as it may, he certainly is the man who kept the Braves in first place today. It was Mathews' 10th inning single that scored Johnny Logan from second base Friday night with the run that gave the Braves a 3-2 victory over the Giants and kept them 52 percentage points ahead of the second-place Cardinals. "Notice how often one of Mathews' hits figures in our winning ball game," Grimm points out. The Milwaukee manager has a point well taken. Of the six games the Braves have won so far, hits by Mathews have had a direct influence on three of them. His clutch hit Friday night sent southpaw Johnny Antonelli down to defeat. Seven Innings—No Hits Dave Jolly, who relieved Lew Burdette in the 10th, was credited with his second victory in as many games. He has now gone seven innings without yielding either a hit or a run. The Cardinals exploded for seven runs in the sixth inning to hand the Dodgers a 10-3 setback. Four singles, a pair of walks, a wild pitch, a balk and two Brooklyn errors helped St. Louis to its big inning. Willard Schmidt was the winner although it was ancient Ellis Kinder who checked the world champions after they rallied for two runs against Lindy McDaniel in the seventh. Cincinnati, which is starting to move after a slow start, notched its seventh victory in eight games by nipping Pittsburgh, 4-3, on Art Fowler's six-hit pitching. Frank Thomas put the Pirates ahead with a two-run homer in the sixth, but Roy McMillan's two-run single in the bottom of the frame spelled defeat for Dick Hall. Ernie Banks blasted his fifth homer with one on to give the Cubs a 2-1 victory over Robin Roberts of the Phillies. Bob Rush, who hadn't beaten the Phils since June 2, 1954, broke a 1-0 game today.

Tony Beal Tosses Shot 53 Feet, 5 3-4 Inches; Locals Score 24 Points

Bull Dog Tony Beal tossed the shot a distance of 53 feet, five and three-fourths inches last night at West Frankfort in the annual South Seven conference track and field meet which was won by Mt.
